Lexington Open Studios Returns!

While our time with Covid prevented us from gathering, Artists continued to be inspired to create inspired and beautiful works of art in many mediums. Lexington Open Studios provides a rare opportunity to visit artists where some work in their home studios, at art associations in Lexington, Belmont and in community spaces, and most importantly, discuss with the artists their inspiration, creative process, mediums and techniques. This year with consideration for Covid, multiple artists at the two organizations will be outside.

Fun
LOS 2022

Lexington Open Studios is holding its 13th annual event this spring. On May 20 and May 21, 2023, Lexington artists open the doors of their work spaces to share their techniques, chat about their work and sell professional artwork to the public.

We enjoy many hundreds of visitors each year.

This is an artist-run event. All artists pay an annual fee to participate in LOS, but these fees cover only part of what it costs to hold a successful weekend.

We thank you for your support to help defray the costs of advertising in several local publications, for printing advertising materials, and for our website:
